Clean Electrolytes for APAC Wellness Market

Distribution Partnership Proposal | Q4 2025

Market Opportunity

Thailand's Untapped Hydration Market

85% of bottled water brands are solely filtered drinking water, not mineralized (dead water).

- Crystal
- Singha Drinking Water
- Nam Thip
- Nestlé Pure Life
- Sprinkle

The Gap

Consumers drink filtered water daily but lack essential minerals for optimal health

$39.9B
Global electrolyte market (2024)

Revenue Model

Why this works

High Customer Retention

90%

Customers keep coming back. After 3-5 years, 90% are still buying. This is habit-forming, not a trend.

Incremental Revenue

100%

Zero cannibalization of existing products. Salt.Magic creates new revenue, doesn't steal from sports drinks or supplements.

Premium Margin Product

35-40%

9-12 THB single sachets at 35-40% margin. Higher margin than sugary sports drinks.

365 Days/Year Product

Daily

Not just post-workout. Customers use it every day for sleep, focus, digestion, illness recovery, and overall health.

Wellness Positioning

Salt.Magic fits perfectly into pharmacy, health & wellness narratives, not just the sports supplement aisle.

Natural Ingredients
Magnesium, potassium, pink Himalayan salt with 84 trace minerals

Zero Sugar
Clean label aligns with wellness consumer demands

For Everyone
All ages, families, daily users – not just athletes

Daily Essential
Lifestyle product, not occasional supplement

New Product Category = Market Expansion

Like the vitamin water and protein water boom, clean electrolytes are creating a new wellness category:

Vitamin Water (Glacéau)	Sold to Coca-Cola for $4.1B
Liquid Death (canned water)	$1.4B valuation, 100K+ stores
LMNT (clean electrolytes)	8-figure revenue, retail everywhere
Liquid IV (hydration packets)	8-figure revenue, retail everywhere

Salt.Magic is positioned to lead this category in Thailand's pharmacy channel

Partnership
